

Hundreds Of Women Attend Brenneman Breakfast

MRS. PETERMAN SPEAKER AT MOKENA P. T. A.'S 1946-'47 CLOSING MEET

ABOUT THIS — AND — ABOUT THAT

By OLIVER GEDEIST

RACE PROBLEMS.—Every country has race problems. If it's not one unwanted race, it's another. There's much spoken hypocrisy about "equality." But none wants equality. Deep down under, each of us wants SUPERIORITY, whatever our lips may utter. That's nothing new, of course. It dates back to earliest known peoples; the difference then was simple: one went out and killed the others, took their women and other chattels if they were wanted. We are too polite for that—or afraid of the law.

INDIA ADVANCES.—India has its untouchables. But they have limited recognition now as almost human—they are allowed to vote—are allowed to become citizens. But Hindus will continue to despise them. Hatreds are not wiped out by the stroke of a pen. But India advances; some time it will be civilized enough to be really hypocritical.

OUR RESPONSIBILITY.—We are not without responsibility for many hatreds. In the Orient, before the war, there were clubs "for gentlemen" where "heathens" were not admitted. You see, we were the SUPERIOR race among "inferiors." And we made them feel it. Do you suppose that made the "heathens" like us?

WE FORGET.—Often Occidentals, adhering to the Christian faith, forget that other peoples of the "faith of their fathers" feel their religion superior to ours. They were trained that way, just as we were trained our way. But we exult over them and their ancient traditions and spiritual concepts. Travelers find them pretty good people. It wouldn't be a bad idea to parallel our beliefs, faiths, hopes, ambitions ALONGSIDE the same of other peoples—here at home and abroad—live parallel lives each according to his own ways, with respect, but recognizing that race differences always have and always will exist.

MOTHER TRUMAN.—There's no political thought in this paragraph. The hearts of all people are warmed by the President's affectionate attention to his aged mother, and all hope she will get well. It's a happy omen that we have a President who acts like regular folks: no show, no pomposity—just a regular sort of American. Many of us may vote against him, as party policy, but all must commend him for the simplicity of his conduct.

CALLING NAMES.—Bad habit, that's what it is. It's easy to call one a fascist or communist; the latter name all who disagree as fascists. Yet few of them probably have enough sense to actually define the meaning of the term. And too many who know better debase themselves by labeling any opponent as "communist." It's not a nice name to call anybody who actually is not a communist.

TOO FREQUENT.—Even among ourselves name calling is frequent—too frequent. Respect for another's opinion and a fair analysis of the philosophy involved in the position will bring about understanding. Name calling destroys understanding. And it is a bad example for children.

THEY DIE.—Hundreds will die between Thursday night and Monday morning. Memorial day week-end, and needlessly die. Speed, carelessness, selfishness, indifference to others' rights will be the cause. If you are going somewhere in your car, be careful. Thousands will be on the country's highways with apparent intention of seeing how close to death they can approach without dying. But many of them will die. Unhappily, they take death to others. They're wild: look out for them.

MUSIC.—It's good that human beings learned how to use their tongues for singing. At least we are different in that respect from lower animals we seem, sometimes, to try to emulate. Music is beautiful, does not inspire hate, or low ideas. Along with flowers, shining stars, lovely women, lilies and other flowers, singing lifts the soul of man. And it's sweet lifting.

Additions Made To Frankfort Program

Frankfort has increased its program for Memorial day, according to an announcement by Mayor Sangmeister this week.

Band music will be furnished for Memorial day exercises, beginning at the school grounds and marching to the cemetery. The band is to be composed of Frankfort musicians plus some visiting assistance, it was stated. Forty boys from Glenwood manual

The last meeting of Mokena P.T.A. for the school year 1946-47 was held in the school gymnasium Tuesday evening of this week.

Mrs. P.E. Peterman, vice-president of the Illinois Congress of Parents and Teachers was guest speaker. Her subject was "Summer Play Schools." Mrs. Peterman, an intriguing speaker, kept her audience spellbound for 45 minutes as she pointed out the necessity of planned recreation in building strong normal children into peace-loving adults. She maintains that if children are taught to play together they will grow into adults who can and will work together.

The New Lenox band played some of the numbers that recently won state awards. The boys and girls played very capably under the direction of W. H. Reed. More than 40 were in the band.

Mrs. Peterman had charge of the installation of the new officers, who are Mrs. Winton R. Hamilton president, Mrs. T. Arthur Shoop first vice-president, Mrs. Hilda Sehnemann second vice-president, Mrs. Gerrit Swart secretary, Mrs. Edwin Dunham treasurer.

A social hour followed with coffee and doughnuts being served. Many out of town guests from New Lenox, Joliet and Frankfort attended. Among these were Mrs. A. Y. Wilson, director of District 22; Mrs. Frank J. Chmelik, president of Will county council; and Mrs. John Robertson, secretary of Will county council.

Music Association Enrollment Opens

The Will County Civic Music Association will inaugurate its second annual membership campaign this Monday, June 2, with a dinner for workers, officers, and directors at the Woodruff Hotel in Joliet.

This nonprofit organization last year presented five outstanding concerts, including the Indianapolis Symphony Orchestra, Winifred Heidt, contralto, Louis Kaufman, violinist, Sylvia Zarembo, pianist and Gold and Fildale, duo-pianists. It is anticipated that at least five concerts will be presented this year, possibly six, depending on the wishes of the membership.

Only members may attend the concerts and, no single admissions are sold for the individual concerts. Annual membership dues are $6 for adults and $3 for students, including federal tax. There are no further charges or assessments.

Memberships will be obtainable only up until Saturday night, June 7.

Child Runs Into G. C. Sangmeister Car

Excitement over prospects of going for an ice cream cone brought slight injury to a little New Lenox girl last week, when she ran into a car driven by George C. Sangmeister, Frankfort village president, and electrical goods merchant in Frankfort.

Mr. Sangmeister swerved his car off to the shoulder of the road, and he thought the little girl probably ran into the side of the vehicle as he swerved. When he stopped, she was lying on the ground, crying. He took her into her parents' home, where medical assistance was refused.

Next morning, answering a call from Mr. Sangmeister, the parents told him that except for a few bruises the little girl was all right. He received their thanks for his thoughtfulness and offer of assistance.

Former Mokenians In 50th Anniversary

Information has reached Mokena that Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Oswald of Montrose, Calif., soon will celebrate their golden wedding anniversary. They have lived in California since Mr. Oswald retired from business here.

Mr. and Mrs. Oswald formerly lived in Mokena and were active in civic and church affairs.

The celebration is being planned by a daughter, Mrs. E. C. Taggart, in her home in Glendale, Calif., when open house will be held for the former Mokenians, followed by a family dinner.

Two other daughters, Mrs. M. Cation of Arlington Heights and Mrs. R. Pamler of Des Plaines, plan to go to California for the celebration.

training school will participate in the ceremonies, and it is expected that the boys will present some fancy drill formations.

Following the afternoon ceremonies at the school after decoration of graves and cemetery formalities, the Bobzin-Swinford post American Legion will climax the day with a dance in the school auditorium. Time: 9 o'clock.

Goes To Indiana

Thomas Taylor, nephew of Mrs. W. C. Davidson of Lincoln Estates, left this week to make his home in Gary, Ind., with his mother, Mrs. W. D. Ashton.

FIRE FIGHTERS GATHER IN FRANKFORT; RE-ELECT OFFICERS; HAVE GALA PARTY

Memorial Day

By Elizabeth Bush

Memorial day, the day replete

With thots and memories

Of other days and years;

The day we pause to pay

All honors; to revere

With gratitude and tears,

Those soldiers brave

Who bled and died

That this our land might be

Our own America—

A glorious land,

Home of the brave and free.

Frankfort Victory Club Ends Work

At a special meeting of the Frankfort Victory club Saturday morning, members decided to purchase an attractive clock for the village hall to honor young men of the community who served their country during World War II. The clock will be properly inscribed.

Following the policy of other local organizations, the club also contributed $10 toward the fund for colors for the Bobzin-Swinford post of the American Legion. These final contributions will deplete the treasury and the club will disband.

Organized early in 1942 for the sole purpose of aiding the war effort the organization contributed several hundred dollars toward that cause.

The Victory club has been comprised of young people.

ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCED

Mr. and Mrs. Nels Sorenson of Mokena have announced the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter Ethel to Mr. Wilbur O'Brien of Chicago. The wedding will take place Saturday June 14, in Chicago.

Mrs. Grieves In Florida

Mrs. Charles O. Grieves of Elwood Route 1, left Monday of this week for Miami Beach, Fla., for an extended visit with her sister Mrs. Viola Lavender, at Haddon Hall, while Mr. Grieves is busy with training on Chicago area tracks during the summer. They formerly lived in Mokena.

Miss Shirley Nelson To Wed June 7

Miss Shirley Nelson will be married to Arthur Henke Jr., of Tinley Park at 7:30 P. M. June seven in the St. John's Evangelical and Reformed church in Mokena.

A reception at Saenger hall, Tinley Park, will follow immediately after the ceremony. All friends of the couple are invited to attend.

They will make their home in Tinley Park.

George Bobzins Move

Mr. and Mrs. George F. Bobzin of Frankfort and little son William Charles moved this week to Peotone, where they will live with Mrs. Bobzin's father, Henry R. Jacobi, on Route 2.

NEW LENOX BEAUTICIAN WINS HIGH HONORS AT CONVENTION IN OHIO

Mrs. Mildred Johnson of New Lenox walked away with a group of honors during the recent beauticians' convention in Columbus, Ohio, according to a report in a Columbus newspaper. Mrs. Johnson, it stated won first place in styling, second in hair cutting, and first permanent waving, plus two seconds and another first.

NEW LENOX 4-H ONLY ILLINOIS CLUB TO PLACE IN NATIONAL CONTEST

The Schuhl Pepsters 4-H club of New Lenox has brought national recognition to Will county by winning one of the top ratings in the 17th annual judging contest sponsored by "Hoards Dairyman." The New Lenox club, under the leadership of Marion Owen, placed tenth in the nationwide competition and was the only Illinois entrant to win a place in the contest, in which entries were received from every state.

A total of 61,684 contestants took part, according to the contest report in the current issue of the sponsoring publication, with 637 4-H clubs represented. Other contest divisions included high school and college teams, family groups, and individual participants in senior, junior, and vocational agriculture classifications.

Fire fighters from 20 villages met in Frankfort village hall Monday evening for a monthly meeting that turned out to be a large affair.

More than 180 persons were present for the regular business meeting and entertainment and "sandwich" banquet which followed.

One hundred and fifty of those present were visitors from other communities in the Fire Fighters association. Frankfort's membership in the association totals 38.

At the meeting, the main business was the election of officers, which turned out to be a simple affair, which meant all officers were told, officially, of course, by election, to just keep on going another year.

Then with a five-piece band recruited in Frankfort, the meeting turned into a gala social affair, aided by sandwiches and numerous other refreshments.

Lincolnia Sought By Illinois Group

Autographs of Abraham Lincoln are being sought by the Abraham Lincoln association of Illinois, it was announced last week.

The association, with headquarters in Springfield, has in preparation a work to be entitled "The Writings of Abraham Lincoln," and wants photostatic copies of "Lincoln autographs of all categories, from major letters and speeches to minor endorsements and notes," it said in making the following appeal to the public:

"The Abraham Lincoln Association, First National Bank Building, Springfield, Ill., solicits information concerning the present private ownership and location of any document composed by Abraham Lincoln, whether or not it has been published hitherto. Documents in public institutions are readily accessible, but many of those held by individuals have not been located to date. The preparation of a complete edition of Lincoln's writings from original sources will be greatly facilitated by information leading to procurement of photostatic copies of documents held by private individuals. Acknowledgment of assistance will be fully made upon publication."

"This does not mean the surrender or gift of these items, it was stated; the association wants to make photostatic copies of such data as private persons may possess to be used in the project underway by the association.

Ann Rutledge Has Banquet

The annual banquet for the seventh and eighth grades of the Ann Rutledge school took place last Saturday in a setting of spring flowers and candle light. Forty friends, guests, teachers, and pupils enjoyed this occasion. Thomas Taylor served as toastmaster to the following program:

Welcome, Thomas Taylor; candle lighting, the girls; thanks, the Rev. Benedict J. Pfeiffer; presentation of class, Mrs. Davidson; response, Norman Bradley; toast to parents, Lenora Hermon; response, Alvin Boze; toast to guests, Betty Blaylock; piano solo, Gloria Ott; piano duet, Ruth Schaper and Mrs. Davidson; songs, everybody; toast to Ann Rutledge, Leroy Heavener; mizpah, all.

ESTIMATED 600 CROWD INTO TRINITY LUTHERAN LADIES MONDAY AFFAIR

Helmke-Stiverson

Miss Myrtle Helmke, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Helmke, was married to Clifford Stiverson of Monticello Sunday afternoon, May 25, in a ceremony at the home of the bride's parents in Marley community.

Music was by Mrs. Russel Lauffer, who also sang "Always." The couple took their places before the French windows in the living-room as the wedding march was played. Bouquets of white lilies were on each side of the windows; mixed flowers were used throughout the room. The Rev. Paul Saunders performed the ceremony.

Wendell Stiverson of Monticello served his brother as best man.

The bride wore a gown of white satin with a sweetheart neckline and a full pleated skirt ending in a long train. Her veil was the one worn by her mother on her wedding day, caught up with a coronet of roses. She carried a bouquet of white roses and wore a gold choker, a gift of the groom.

Miss May Helmke, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. She wore a gown of white frosted organdy over blue taffeta, fashioned with an eyelet batiste midriff. She wore a matching skull cap and carried a bouquet of pink carnations. Her pearls were a gift of the bride.

Fifty guests attended the reception and wedding dinner which was served at six o'clock. The serving tables were decorated with blue and centered with white flowers except the bride's table, which was centered with a wedding cake.

Out of town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Dale Stiverson and family of Monticello, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Stiverson of Waukegan, Miss Mildred Freeman, Mr. and Mrs. Conrad Warnecke, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Warnecke, Mr. and Mrs. Willie Cribbs, Mr. and Mrs. George Rogers and son, Mrs. Ralph Rapp and son, and Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Vator all of Chicago.

After a short wedding trip, Mr. and Mrs. Stiverson will live in Monticello.

Club Women To Meet 3rd District Head

The annual "school of instructions" for all chairmen of Third District, Illinois Federation of Women's clubs, will be held Friday morning, June 6 at the Ridge Park field house, 96th and Longwood Drive, from 10 to 12 o'clock.

Mrs. William T. Ewing, 12841 S. Maple avenue, Blue Island, the newly elected president of the district, will conduct a round table for presidents, treasurers, and deans of the clubs.

District chairmen will conduct round tables on the work of all departments, and all chairmen are urged to request to attend this important meeting.

Mokena Memorial Plans Complete

Memorial day plans were all completed, Commander George Phelps of the William Martin post Veterans of Foreign Wars, announced, with the program calling for ceremonies in the Mokena school gym this (Friday) morning at 10 o'clock, with addresses by Oliver Gedeist, managing editor of The Semmler Papers, and Carl Reis, senior vice-commander, Department of Illinois.

Mrs. J. P. DuPlessis of Chicago soprano soloist has graciously consented to sing.

Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts will participate in the program both at the school and in the parade and at the cemetery.

Class Reunion

Joliet township high school class of '38 will hold a reunion dinner at 6:30 Saturday evening, Woodruff hotel, Joliet. Members, wives, and husbands are welcome, it is announced by Leroy Latz, 902 N. Raynor avenue, Joliet, who is receiving reservations.

GRADUATES

Graduating from University of Illinois: From New Lenox: Ardis Corp. A. B., liberal arts and sciences. From Mokena: David I. Rabinov, B.S., liberal arts and sciences.

Bradneys Entertain

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Bradney, Frankfort, Sunday had as visitors and for dinner cousins of Mr. Bradney, Mr. and Mrs. H.C. Bradney and son from Gray's Lake, Ind.

Mrs. Busse Returns

Mrs. George Busse of Frankfort has returned from a visit to Fort Dodge, Iowa, where she went to be with her mother, Mrs. J.A. Lohr, who has been quite ill.

Attend Convention

The Semmler Paper's publisher, Mrs. Margaret M. Semmler, and Ramon Westlund of the staff, last week attended the spring meeting of the Illinois Press Association. The sessions were held in Stevens hotel, Chicago.

This is a story about a great many women. The story started some time ago when the Ladies Aid of Trinity Lutheran church of Tinley Park, in conclave, decided it was about time that a great many women should be lured to Tinley Park.

After plans were matured, the Semmler Papers editor was let in on the "secret"—and in his finite mind visualized a group of perhaps 75 to 100 women in attendance.

But the big event—the Tom Brenneman-Hollywood-Good Neighbor breakfast—came off on schedule last Monday morning at Saenger Hall in Tinley Park.

And just to prove the ignorance of a mere man editor, those ladies corralled approximately 600 happy women from Will county, from Cook county, and, well many did not record from just how far they came.

There was a program, naturally, M. C. d by Jimmie Hart of Joliet, who has a habit of doing things like that "all over" a lot of the time, and he demonstrated by his finesse and entertaining capacity that he was an old hand at the job.

Prizes were awarded for the unusual—there was, to illustrate, Mrs. William Rauch, who was awarded a prize in the "mostest" division, because she had more grandchildren—33 of them—than any other woman present. That's just a sample.

Something that was not on the program—that is, as far as the men know—waiting over long for dinner; the ladies stayed, while men waited, and one business man made the suggestion that perhaps if this sort of thing became a habit, on such a large scale, substitute wives would be needed so a fellow could get his dinner on time.

Three ladies won prizes as "good neighbors"—Mrs. Esther Meyer, Mrs. Arthur Brandan, Mrs. Conrad Bettenhausen.

A prized prize was won by Mrs. E. C. Grunst—A chenille bedspread, but all prizes were excellent, with hardly any "bests"—and the ladies who solicited prizes from merchants are grateful for the fine list, and it was slightly hinted that the ladies who won the prizes thought pretty well of them, too.

One of the tough duties of an editor is to make a selection from many items that should be in the paper, and this is one of the times he wishes there were forty more pages—to name all the prizes and their winners. But these have been selected from among the mountain of prizes as being representative:

Oldest lady, Mrs. Rose Teske, 95 years old.

Goofiest hat, an old-fashioned high-top button shoe trimmed with lace, Mrs. George Schultz Jr.

Oldest hat, Mrs. Edna Habenicht, hat about 90-95 years old, and Mrs. Huhnstock, hat 80 years old.

Wishing ring, Mrs. Clarence Lauf-fer.

Youngest grandmother, Mrs. Leon Harnack, 37 years old.

Born furthest distance, Mrs. Robert Johnson, New Zealand.

Most sets of twins, Mrs. Walter Rauch, two sets.

Mrs. Conrad Andres of Tinley, still lives on farm where she was born 69 years ago.

Youngest mother, 19 years-old, Mrs. Henry Siebrandt.

Newest bride, Mrs. Howard Bettenhausen.

Married longest, 65 years, Mrs. John Schult.

Youngest baby, Karen Lynette Rahm, three and one half months' old.

Association Renames Methodist Cemetery

The name of Tinley Park Methodist cemetery has been changed to Tinley Park Memorial cemetery.

This action was taken last week at a meeting of the board of trustees of the Orland-Tinley Park Methodist Cemetery association, at the home of Henry Bettenhausen in Tinley Park.

The cemetery is located at 171st street and 84th avenue, and previously was a private Methodist cemetery. However, since it became a public cemetery it has been known as No. 3 cemetery because this is only one of two cemeteries operated by the association.

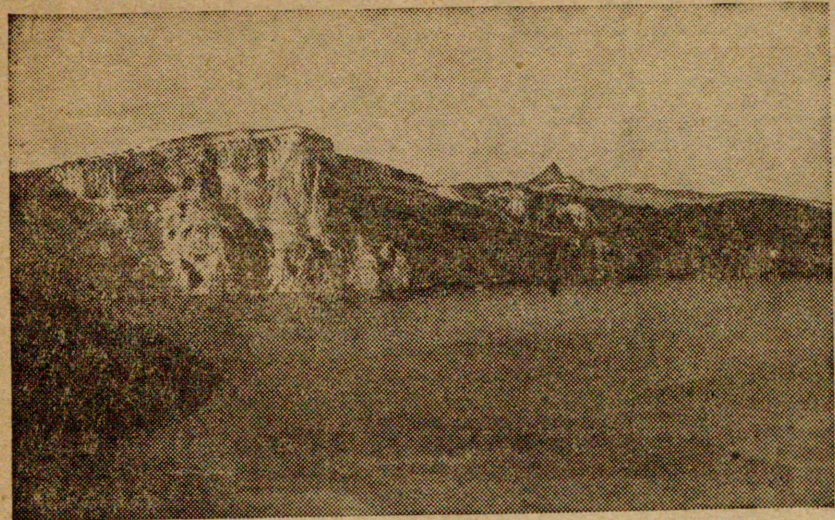

The new name will apply in the future, it was stated.

Joe Kohl Gets Aid In Tax Assessing

Joe Kohl, Frankfort township tax assessor, because of illness has secured assistance making tax assessments. In Districts 156 and 156A, Mrs. Davidson, in 157 Mrs. Henry Huesner, in Mokena district Richard Hensel.

LOCKPORT PASTOR SPEAKER AT MOKENA COMMENCEMENT

The Rev. Herbert Rasey, pastor of Lockport Methodist church, will be the speaker at commencement exercises of Mokena public school June 4. Time, 8 in the evening.

GEM OF BEAUTY . . . Once a fiery volcano, Crater lake in Oregon now ranks as one of the beauty spots in national parks of the West. The lake, which gives the park its name, is the deepest on the North American continent; its color is a mysterious blue. Sheer sides rise 500 to 2,000 feet to the rim from the lake surface. Llao rock, on the rim of the lake, is shown in this picture, with Mount Thielsen in the background.

NATURE'S HANDIWORK

Pacific Coast Parks Show Results of Volcanic Action

WNU Features.

Volcanoes have been a dominant factor in shaping the American landscape, especially in many parts of the West. Three of the major volcanic exhibits of California, Oregon and Washington have been incorporated into the national park system.

It was 40 years ago that Theodore Roosevelt, using the authority granted by congress the preceding year, established Lassen peak and nearby Cinder Cone as national monuments. Nine years later these two attractions of nature were incorporated into Lassen Volcanic National park, containing 103,269 acres.

Greatest single distinction of the park is the fact that it contains the only recently active volcano in the United States. Starting May 30, 1914, a series of eruptions continued until February, 1921. Most spectacular in the seven-year-long series were the 1915 eruptions, which were accompanied by extensive flows of hot lava. These created the "devastated area," which still ranks as one of the park's points of principal interest to tourists.

The great cone of Lassen peak rises 10,543 feet above sea level. As in the "devastated area," the Cinder Cone, which was last active about 100 years ago, and its immediate surroundings are almost wholly devoid of vegetation.

Underground fires have been active in this region for a long time and they have exerted their power in a variety of ways. This is suggested by Bumpas Hell, a colorful hot springs area; Boiling Springs lake; Red Cinder Cone; Crater butte, and the privately owned sulphur works, which lies within the park.

AT CRATER LAKE National park, in southern Oregon, on the crest of the Cascade range, is presented the spectacle of a lake of deepest blue in the crater of Mount Mazama, an extinct volcano. Many geologists have concluded that the basin occupied by the lake, which has neither inlet or outlet, resulted from collapse of the volcanic cone of the ancient peak.

The lake is supplied with water by rainfall and snowfall as well as by snow which is blown into it from the rim. Collapse of the mountain's summit did not mean the end of its volcanic activity; Wizard island, a symmetrical cinder cone, was formed later and rises 780 feet above surface of the lake. Covering an area of 20 square miles, Crater lake is 6 miles across; it has a shore line of 20 miles and the multi-colored cliffs of the crater's rim rise 500 to 2,000 feet above it. The park contains 160,290 acres.

HIGHEST OF ALL volcanic peaks of the western United States is Mount Rainier, 14,408 feet in elevation, which is the central and dominant feature of Mount Rainier National park. Although it has long been dormant, steam still issues from vents on its summit, and several hot springs are found nearby at picturesquely named Ohanapocosh hot springs.

From the lofty central cone radiates the greatest single-peak glacier system in the United States, with 26 active rivers of ice. One of these, the Emmons, which starts from the summit of ice and snow fields, is 5½ miles in length, the longest glacier in the United States. Most of them extend far below the timberline.

John Muir, who perhaps did as much as any one person to further the spread of the national park idea, considered the wildflower fields of Mount Rainier the finest he had ever seen in all his wanderings throughout the mountains of the West. The most extensive and colorful displays are found in the mountain "parks" which lie between the long rivers of ice and above the dense forests which clothe the lower elevations of the park. The forests themselves, virgin stands of gigantic Douglas fir, western red cedar and western hemlock, are a distinguished feature, particularly attractive to eastern and midwestern visitors.

ALL THREE of these parks are almost as popular during the winter as in summer. All of them have very heavy snowfall and all have open slopes that offer the skier every variety of skiing experience, which extends into late spring and even early summer. Roads are kept open in each park to permit winter sports enthusiasts to reach them, although the expense of plowing out the roads after every snowstorm is rather high.

IN LASSEN Volcanic National park there are public accommodations near Manzanita lake, close to the northwest entrance of the park. At Crater lake, similar accommodations are situated within a short distance of the rim. At Mount Rainier they are found at Longmire, about 2,750 feet above sea level; at Paradise valley, 5,557 feet elevation, and at Ohanapocosh hot springs in the southeast corner of the park. Public campgrounds, for which no fee is charged, are to be found at a number of points in each of these parks.

As in most of the other national parks, National Park service provides staffs of ranger-naturalists whose job it is to help the visitor gain a better understanding of the plant and animal life of the parks and of the geological phenomena found in them.

RIVER OF ICE . . . Nisqually glacier flows down the south side of Mount Rainier, focal point in Mount Rainier National park in Washington.

Realistic Acting

OGDEN, UTAH.—La Moine Wall, 15, was rehearsing for a school play, the script calling for him to be "knocked out" in a fight. He didn't get up when the rehearsal ended. He had bumped his head a little too hard when he fell to the floor. First aid treatment brought him around.

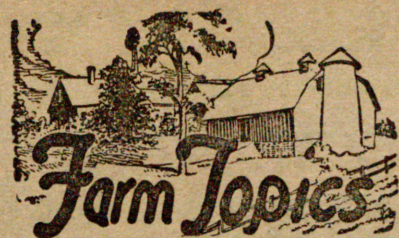

Animals Are 'Ears' for Deaf Woman

GOODING, IDA.—Deafness has proved no great handicap to Mrs. Violet Gooding, for she has Inky, a cat, and Impy, a dog, to serve as her "ears."

The amazing thing about the two animals is that they have been trained in the universal sign language of the deaf. There are no spoken commands in Mrs. Gooding's home. Her hands do the commanding.

No doorbell warns of impending visitors. When someone at the door presses a button, a red light comes on in the living room. If Mrs. Gooding doesn't notice it, Impy or Inky do—and notify their mistress. Impy awakens Mrs. Gooding every morning by patting the bed covers.

Mrs. Gooding, who lives alone, is self-supporting, working for the State School for the Deaf and Blind here. Her husband died in 1937.

Soybeans Will Hold Own if Given Chance

Industry Making Real Demands for Big Crop

Since America's pioneer soybean processing plant began operations in 1922, soybeans have become a byword in agriculture and industry, ranking as the nation's fourth largest cash farm crop.

Soybeans, when processed, enter largely into three fields of use—farm, home and industry.

Farmers know soybeans as a crop which can be planted late, if necessary, and which brings comparatively high return per acre. They know soybeans, also, as a superlative source of protein concentrates for use in livestock and poultry rations.

Soybeans ready for the processor.

Products made from soybeans go into hundreds of food items. Soybean oil is used in production of about 50 per cent of all shortenings. More than 40 per cent of all margarines are made from soybean oil. The soybean oil produced from nearly 1,500,000 acres is used in making margarines.

One of the subsidiary uses for soybeans is the field of medicine, where soybean oil is used as a carrier in capsule-packaging of vitamins.

The health-giving value of soybeans long has been recognized by the farmers of health foods. These things are secondary to the farmer. Yield and profit per acre and use of soybean oilmeal as a feed have been the farmer's first consideration. If the production of soybean is to continue to increase, all uses of soybeans must be developed and expanded.

SHORTCHANGE THE SOIL

The benefits of clover depend on how much nitrogen and organic matter it produces, and how much of those materials is returned to the soil as clover or as manure. When sweet clover is out in the fall and removed from the field the resulting loss in nitrogen and organic matter reduces the yields of crops following in the rotation. When clover is not cut, those yields increase.

above chart illustrates results of crop rotation tests at the Carthage soil experiment field by University of Illinois agronomists. In a three-year rotation of corn, oats and wheat, sweet clover was seeded in the wheat and plowed under for corn the next spring. On one plot the stubble sweet clover was cut in the fall and removed. On another plot the sweet clover was left uncut. Both plots were plowed the following spring. The effect on yields of corn, oats and wheat following on each plot is summarized above.

New Type Spray Oil For Fruit Trees

A new superior type oil for use in dormant sprays for fruit trees has been developed by Geneva experiment station. The new type oils are said to be more effective and to be safer to use on fruit trees. It is estimated that 25 million gallons of oil are used annually throughout the world for horticultural sprays, sufficient to make about a billion gallons of dilute spray.

New Machine Aids Deep Fertilization

A machine capable of placing fertilizers at plow-sole depth and covering as high as 30 acres a day has been developed by an Illinois farmer. Fertilizer placed at root depth in the soil or in the bottom of the plow furrow has been gaining advocates at a rapid pace. The present slow method of application has delayed its general application. It allows late season application after weather has become settled.

FACING NATIONAL PERILS

LESSON TEXT—II Kings 19:5-7, 32-37; 20:12-17.

MEMORY SELECTION—For thus said the Lord God, the Holy One of Israel; in returning and rest shall ye be saved; in quietness and in confidence shall be your strength.—Isaiah 30:15.

Perilous times had come upon the southern part of the divided kingdom known as Judah. There had been a period of outward prosperity under King Uzziah, but the inward decay of the people made it an empty thing.

Judah, like Israel, was on the downward path which was to lead to ultimate captivity and judgment. The occasional reign of good kings seemed to stem the tide a bit; in fact, the great king of whom we study today, Hezekiah, gave Judah a "fresh lease on life and enabled her to outlive her sister kingdom by nearly a century and a half."

Judah experienced a real revival of faith in God under Hezekiah (II Kings 18:4-6; II Chron. 29:31). The temple was cleansed, the priesthood renewed and reconsecrated, and the great feast of the Passover kept once more. This undoubtedly explains the new life which came to Judah in an hour when the nation seemed about to disintegrate.

I. The Enemy's Threat (19:5, 6).

For the background here one must read the previous chapter. Hezekiah, having tried to throw off the yoke of Assyria, had seen Sennacherib and his armies sweep over the land. Thinking to stop him and to save Jerusalem, he sent a great gift amounting in value to millions of dollars. The gift was accepted, and then Sennacherib treacherously seized Jerusalem.

Rabshakeh, Sennacherib's messenger to Hezekiah, not only threatened the nation, but blasphemously denied the power of God. Such was the awful situation Hezekiah faced as he went to the temple, and sent trusted servants to inquire of Isaiah what he ought to do.

The response was prompt and definite. We may learn from this incident that in an hour of confusion and danger it is well to take time to find out what the Lord has to say about things. He knows what to do!

II. The Lord's Answer (19:7, 32-37).

God has only to blow on the mighty, blustering monarchs of this world and they come to their end, definitely and conclusively. The "blast" of the Lord (v. 7) is enough to care for that! And remember, he is still ready to act on behalf of his people!

On the plains of Philistia the mighty host of Assyria met the angel of the Lord, and they never awoke from their sleep. The loss of 185,000 men sent Sennacherib home to Nineveh broken and fearful, and there he met his own violent death. How much we need the encouragement of such an event as this in our own day when the mighty of this earth seem to speak so boldly and confidently against the name of the Lord. His children must often hear the blasphemous threats of unbelievers and bear the burden of their scorn.

Let us remember that we do serve a God who can with a glance of his eyes throw into confusion all the enemies of his mighty name. Let us be strong to fight the victorious battle in his name!

Hezekiah knew the sweetness of victory as he trusted in the Lord. If we could only rest the matter there. But the weakness of the flesh comes to the fore as we see

III. The King's Folly (20:12-17). Babylon, one of the great Gentile enemies of Assyria, wanted to cultivate the friendship of Hezekiah, so an embassy was sent to express joy at his recovery from a serious illness.

It was the Lord who had healed him (see 20:1-11) in a miraculous way, but now Hezekiah did the foolish thing of trying to cultivate the help of men.

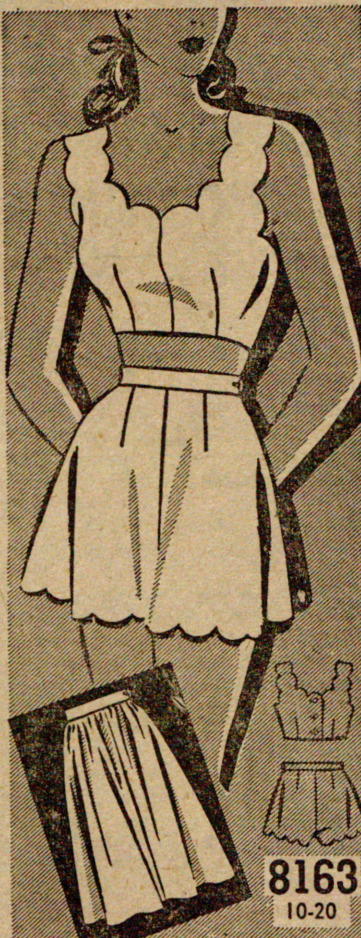

To impress these possible allies from Babylon, he showed them all his wealth. He evidently wanted them to return to their ruler with a story of the might and glory of Judah.

Poor Hezekiah! He only made a fool of himself, prepared the way for the ultimate taking of his possessions and his people by the Babylonians.

The lesson to be learned here is not only that boasting is folly (although that is always true), but also that it is the height of folly to put one's trust in the arm of flesh. No matter how mighty the forces of this world may be, or how wonderful it might seem to have their favor toward the cause of the church, let us be clear that it is in God that we have our strength—and in him alone.

The church (and individual Christians too) has lost its testimony and its power in the community whenever and wherever it has turned to the world for help or support. Remember the folly of Hezekiah.

RIGHT 2 WAYS for EXTRA SMOKING PLEASURE

There's extra smoking comfort in P.A.'s rich-tasting tobacco, specially treated to insure against tongue bite. The world's largest-selling tobacco—PRINCE ALBERT

RIGHT in Pipes

PRINCE ALBERT'S TASTY MELLOWNESS COMES THROUGH MILD AND EASY ON MY TONGUE. I FIND P.A. MEANS MORE PLEASURE FROM MY PIPE!

"I have smoked Prince Albert for years," H. W. Thompson says. "The full flavor of P.A. stays mild and mellow. P.A. packs right and burns right in my pipe. It is tongue-easy smoking pleasure."

H. W. Thompson

R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Co., Winston-Salem, N. C.

RIGHT in Papers

CRIMP CUT P.A. SURE ROLLS UP FAST AND EASY INTO SWELL MAKIN'S SMOKES. I LIKE P.A.'S RICH TASTE AND SPECIAL MILDNESS

"There is no other tobacco like crimp cut Prince Albert for rolling up firm, neat cigarettes," says Nat Smith. "P.A. shapes up speedily and sure into mild, rich-tasting smokes. And it's economical too."

Big Return
The cost of developing phenothiazine (used for removing internal parasites of livestock) was $10,000, but its estimated value in saving livestock each year is estimated at 10 million dollars.

Isolated Leprosy Bacilli
Known to man for more than 4,000 years, leprosy was virtually a scientific mystery prior to the isolation of the leprosy bacilli by the Norwegian, Dr. G. A. Hansen, in 1874.

Rail Charges
Out of each dollar received by the railroads last year 85 cents was paid out for wages, materials and fuel.

Oldest Building in Capital
The home of the Marine Corps commandant, built in 1803, is known as the oldest building in Washington, D. C.

Best for Mayonnaise
When the yolks are to be used in mayonnaise, eggs just out of the refrigerator are best. They make a smoother emulsion with the oil.

Emptying Vacuum Bag
Dust won't be scattered all round if you sprinkle water on a newspaper before emptying the vacuum bag in the paper.

Misname Animal
The animal called the slowworm or blindworm is neither slow nor blind nor is it a worm. It is a legless lizard.

Galloping Giraffes
Giraffes, once known as "camelopards," can gallop at a rate of more than 30 miles per hour.

Wire Clothes Line
To clean a wire clothes line, wipe it first with a cloth moistened in kerosene, then with a dry cloth.

Table Mark
A stubborn white mark on a table top can be removed by rubbing with salt and salad oil.

Oysters Prolife
An individual oyster can produce 55 million to 114 million eggs during its lifetime.

Warms Earth
If there were no atmosphere the average temperature over the earth's surface would be about 18 degrees F. instead of the observed 60 degrees F.

Ride on Power
Enough electricity is used every day by the subways, trackless trolley coaches and street cars in America to light 14,500 homes for a full year.

Britain Raises Food
Before the war, Britain used to grow only 30 per cent of her own food, but now every other meal eaten in Britain is produced entirely in the country.

Farmland in New York
During the 60-year period from 1880 to 1940, land in farms in New York state decreased 25 per cent. Farm production during the same period increased by about one-third.

Fish Rich in Iron
Salt water fish and shell fish are among the richest sources of iodine in the dietary, but the general use of iodized salt makes this of less practical importance.

Planting Dahlias
Dahlia roots should be planted in a horizontal position from four to seven inches deep, with eye or sprout facing upward.

Party Lines
In 28 out of the 80 congresses since 1788, at least one house of congress has been of a different party from the President.

First Oil Burner
The first scientifically constructed oil burner was invented by A. Argand of Geneva in 1784.

Trim Vegetable Tops
Root vegetables will keep better and taste better if the tops or leaves are trimmed before storing.

Beets Nutritious
Beets are rich in vitamin A, vitamin B-1 and iron.

Marine Gear
In 1895, the headgear of marines was a spiked helmet.

WHY AUTO PREMIUMS ARE MORE

Here's why an increase in automobile insurance rates is necessary.

1. Bodily injury claim costs have risen as a result of a 30% increase in automobile accident deaths, rural accidents showing a 48% increase. Bodily injury claims are averaging 40% more than in 1941 because of loss of high wages and accelerated medical and hospitalization costs.

2. Property damages and collision claims are likewise mounting. Repair costs are up at least 35%, closely following the upward trend in general living costs. Wages of mechanics are high and repair parts are still scarce and costly.

3. Although 15 million of the 27 million cars on the road should be replaced with new autos, the 1946 output of new cars totals only about

2,200,000 with 5,000,000 expected in 1947. However, new cars are costing from 30 to 50% more than in 1941 so that many older cars will continue on the road, creating a serious hazard.

4. As evidence that old cars are not standing up, the American Automobile Association reports 17% more breakdowns.

5. The 18.7% increase in automobile thefts in 1945 was followed by a 15.5% additional increase in 1946.

6. With highways and streets in poor condition and with drivers operating older cars at faster speeds there is no immediate relief in sight, although insurance safety organizations are doing their utmost to check the rising accident trend.

Drive Carefully, Carry Insurance, Better be safe than sorry. Be careful where ever you see children and old people. Drive Slowly.

Today's Kitchen Is Attractive and Efficient

Plaids for eye-appeal, cupboards for convenience keynote this compact kitchen. The cabinets come in a variety of styles and may be installed independently. Wooden cabinets are easily painted any color after installation.

BECAUSE the kitchen is not only the homemaker's principal workroom but the heart of the home as well, it must not only be efficient but attractive as well, the Rural Home editor of nationally-circulated Capper's Farmer points out.

Appliances—the supporting cast to the homemaker's star role—have been vastly improved, she writes. They make work easier, cleaner and save time. Ranges, refrigerators and sinks have been precision-built. They include automatic features that take over much tedious responsibility and give improved results.

"Much of our modern equipment in kitchens is being installed rather than built in," she declares. "Some manufacturers of ranges and refrigerators now have kitchen units complete with various types of cabinets and base units. These may be installed or removed independently of other pieces in the same room. When an entire kitchen cannot be purchased outright, it may be gotten a piece at a time. These units may be grouped in almost any number of arrangements, depending on size of family, the kitchen and the pocketbook."

A workable kitchen must have each piece of equipment placed in relation to other pieces, she adds. Then work moves smoothly and easily with a minimum of wasted effort.

story of modern China and the affects of the Japanese war on a family of sturdy, upright farmers. Ling Tan's sons take to guerilla warfare and the family makes valiant attempts to continue some kind of decent life in the midst of chaos.

"Emperor's Physician," by J. R. Perkins;

"Embezzled Heaven" by Franz Werfel; Tota, a Bohemian cook in an Austrian family, had adopted a nephew, and used all her savings to educate him for the priesthood, with the hope that he would be able to soften her journey through purgatory. She saw the object of her hope only once, and it was 30 years before she realized that she had been aiding a crook. In her anguish the old woman made a pilgrimage to Rome to seek consolation, and her mission ended she died.

"Fairy Tales," by Andersen and Grimms.

"For Whom the Bell Tolls" by Ernest Hemingway; the frame of a story is a minor incident in the horror that was the war in Spain. Robert Jordan is the young American in the Loyalist ranks who has been detailed to the blowing up of a bridge. His mission carried him into the hill country where he must seek the aid of guerilla bands. Jordan destroys the bridge, but while he is escaping with his companions, his horse is knocked from under him by an exploding shell, and we leave him lying on the hillside, his leg crushed by the animal's fall.

"Forever Amber" by Kathleen Winsor; long historical romance about England in the time of Charles II, in which the central character is a beautiful woman, Amber, of decidedly questionable morals.

"Foxes of Harrow" by F. Yerby.

"Good Shepherd" by Gunnar Gunnarsson; at the beginning of every advent season the shepherd Benedikt went out into the upland fells of his native Iceland to bring in the lost sheep which had not returned to their folds in time for the winter gathering. His only companions were his dog, Leo, and the Bellwether, Gnarly. This is the story of Benedikt's 27th winter trip.

"The Gauntlet," by James Street.

"Green Dolphin Street" by Elizabeth Goudge; long romantic novel set in the Channel Islands and New Zealand. Two beautiful, but wholly unlike sisters, daughters of an island aristocrat, fell in love with the same man. After he joined the navy, the sisters waited ten years before William made his decision, and then through a slip of the pen, he sends for the wrong sister to join him in New Zealand.

"Green Mansions" by H. W. Hudson; Green Mansions is something besides the familiar story of a man with a magic mistress. That's the plot. But the larger story is about Hudson in love with the whole of nature and calling up the days when his love had been fresh and strong, and when he was not yet weary of men.

"Green Years" by A. J. Cronin; written in the first person, this is the story of Robert Shannon from his eighth year to his 18th. Orphaned by the loss of both parents in a few months, Robert travels from his home in Ireland to his grandparents in Scotland, where he finds only one person to give him the unstinted love he needs, his grandfather, something of a sinner, but the boy's true friend.

"H. M. Pulham, Esq." by John P. Marquand; in preparation for the 25th Harvard reunion, Harry Pulham writes his autobiography. What he actually writes covers two or three pages, is noncommittal, boring, and conforms to the conventions of his class and times. What he might have written is here set forth in a 400-page novel satirizing the Boston Brahmin class.

"Heartwood" by Anna M. Downes.

"How Green Was My Valley" by Richard Llewellyn; a rich and full story of a mining family in South Wales, from the late seventies or eighties to the beginning of the present century, a family chronicle set down in our own day by old Huw Moran, young Huw when the valley was green, who had left to see it grow black and to be driven away by the desolation it bred.

"The Hucksters," by Frederic Wakeman.

"Hungry Hill" by Daphne Du Maurier, long saga of a hundred years, 1820-1920, in the lives of two Irish families, the Brodricks and the Donovans. The feud between them began because Brodricks was thought to have stolen Donovan's land. When John Brodricks opened the copper mine at Hungry Hill, the head of the Donovan clan predicted failure. At first, success came in the wake of the mine's opening, but throughout the century the family went downhill, and almost always a Donovan was connected with the steps to ruin. Then came 1920.

"Jane Eyre" by Charlotte Bronte; the vitality and individuality of this novel make it one of the most highly cherished treasures in our literature.

Since it is partially autobiographical, the poignancy of Jane Eyre is linked to the immortal interest and heart-rending pathos of the lives of the Brontës.

"Joseph The Provider", by Thomas Mann; the last volume in the tetralogy about Joseph, son of Jacob, the first volume of which was Joseph and His Brothers. In this volume the old story of Joseph's imprisonment, his later rise to power, his reunion with his brothers and his father, Jacob's settlement in the land of Egypt and his death, are all recorded.

"Keys of the Kingdom" by A. J. Cronin; a character study of Francis Chisholm, a lovable Scottish Catholic priest. It begins with his orphaned boyhood and follows his career through his years of training for the priesthood at Holywell and in Spain, and his early struggles in getting adjusted to his life work. Finally, when his place was taken by two younger priests, Father Chisholm—old and weary but still indomitable—came home to spend his remaining years in his native Scotland.

"Lay My Burden Down" by B. A. Botkin.

"Leave Her to Heaven" by Ben Ames Williams; psychological novel in which the character of a despicable woman is the motivating force; even after her suicide, which she arranged to resemble a murder, her evil influence was not ended.

"Lydia Bailey" by Kenneth Roberts. "Mrs. Miniver" by Jan Struther; a collection of story sketches with the character of a despicable woman is the motivating force; even after her suicide, which she arranged to resemble a murder, her evil influence was not ended.

"Mamma's Bank Account" by Kathryn Forbes.

"Moon is Down" by John Steinbeck; a short novel, describing the occupation of a small mining town, presumably in Norway, by an unidentified army, evidently German.

A Direct Hit

(Ed's Note: The following is reprinted from the Joliet Herald-News.)

United States Senator Edwin Martin, Pennsylvania Republican, talked to a gang of communists in Washington a few days ago in a way that elicited warm praise from everyone who heard of the incident.

Some 400 individuals had descended upon the capital in what they termed a "communist veterans encampment." Most of them were in American military uniforms. They went to several government offices where they berated everything American, extolled communism's virtues and demanded many billions of dollars in new appropriations for the promotion of communist schemes. Finally they reached the capitol, where they demanded to see and talk to members of the Senate and House. Many of the members brushed them off, none too politely, and refused to take time to talk to them. Senator Martin, however, had other ideas.

Senator Martin is a veteran of World War I, with a brilliant record, having risen during his military career from buck private to general in command of the 28th (Pennsylvania) National Guard division. Hearing that the communist delegation hailed largely from his home state, he met them in a special conference. Here is part of what he told them:

"I have had over 40 years of service in the armed forces of my country. I love its uniform and its flag. I respect that uniform even when worn by a communist—but I have no respect for the philosophy you have accepted. Some of you, I believe, were willing to fight under my country's flag solely because Russia was fighting the same enemy. Yet you have the effrontery to tell the American Congress how you want things run."

"There is a place for those of you who prefer to live under communism. I suggest that you go there and stay there. If I can help to speed your departure, call on me."

Then, to make sure no one misunderstood him, Senator Martin distributed copies of his statement to members of the gang.

4-H CLUB NEWS

The Bremen Harmonizers 4-H club held its third meeting in the Tinley Park village hall, Thursday evening May 15, at 7:30.

After the call to order the plans for Poppy day were discussed, and as a result all girls wore their uniforms, while selling poppies.

Further plans were discussed for making caps, shoulder bags, and shorts. The girls also plan to finish their sewing boxes shortly, and then to make pin cushions.

The talks and demonstrations for the evening were Jerry Machtemes, "square necklines" and "fitting a pattern," Dorothy Matuszewicz, "sewing in buttons," Rita Kopp, "measuring for dressing table skirts," Carol Chewatal, "chickenpox" and "smallpox," Helene Bachara, "mumps," Lorraine Brandau, "accessories," Ruth Moe, "attention," Jecinnette Lamb, "care of the teeth," "pressing," "making of a broomstick skirt," Helene Bachara, "waistbands," Ruth Moe, "snake bites."

A hike is planned for June 16, ten girls plan to attend camp.

What are "PROPER-SIZED" LIGHT BULBS?

The right bulb may mean the difference between good vision and eyestrain or between charm and mediocrity in home interiors. Cut out this chart and refer to it when selecting light bulbs for empty sockets in your home . . . or consult one of our lighting specialists.

LIVING ROOM	KITCHEN AND BREAKFAST ROOM	BATHROOM
40 or 60 watts each	60 watts each	40 or 60 watts each
40 or 60 watts each	40 or 60 watts inside frosted	60 watts
40 or 60 watts	100 or 150 watts inside frosted	100 watts
40 watts each	40 or 60 watts each	40 or 60 watts
wall bracket, 40 or 60 watts	40 or 60 watts each	40 or 60 watts
DINING ROOM	BEDROOM	HALL AND EXTERIOR
40 watts each	40 or 60 watts each	40 or 60 watts
40 or 60 watts each	wall bracket, 40 watts	40 or 60 watts
150 or 200 watts	100 or 150 watts	40 or 60 watts

NOTE: Some of the fixtures sketched above are not the recommended modern types, but are types found in many homes. Good lighting practice requires all light bulbs to be shaded so that no part of the bare bulb is in the line of vision. Proper sized light bulbs are available at your Public Service Company store or Light Bulb agency.

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

Want to Run a
"Collective" Farm?

Was reading the other day about the "collective" farms they have in certain countries. It seems the folks who run them have plenty of help ... good hours ... and the best equipment.

Sounds pretty nice — till you learn that the "farmer" doesn't own his land, or even farm it, in our sense. He takes orders from the state; produces whatever they want him to produce, at prices they set. Even his off-hours are spent according to state regulations.

No, that would never go here.

We're willing to work hard, but we like to farm the land our own way, put our own value on the crops, and relax as we like — if only with a temperate, companionable glass of beer.

From where I sit, collective farming may produce results. But the American way — freedom to work and relax as we see fit — is what makes this country a great place to live. So let's not change it!

Sixty Will county boys and girls will attend Camp Shaw-waw-nasee, District 4-H camp located east of Wilmington, during the period of July 9 to 12, according to an announcement by Clarence Castle, assistant farm adviser. Enrollments for agricultural 4-H club members closed May 15, with 29 Will county boys and girls signed to attend the camp. Home economics club registrations closed earlier, with 81 enrollments. Agricultural club members enrolled for the camp from the Frankfort-New Lenox 4-H are Jack Chestnut, Donald Hunter, Mary Alice Knowles, Deloris Cleveland, and Arlene Borms. Those from the Schuyl Pepsters signed up are Wayne Triem and John Smith.

Highlighting the May meeting of the Frankfort-New Lenox 4-H club held in the Francis school, was a "white elephant" sale. Usable discards ranging from silhouette pictures to a dime bank were sold at auction with Fred Francis acting as a very capable auctioneer. During the business meeting, Jack Chestnut and Gene Rice were elected representatives to the county federation, Mary Alice Knowles was chosen as program chairman, and Ruth Hamilton and Phyllis Palmer were elected song leaders. Gene Rice presided at the meeting in the absence of the president, Bob Walker. Plans were made for a continuation of the "white elephant" sale at the next meeting, to be held June 3.

Monday morning, May 26 at 9 o'clock, the 4-H girls county committee met with the Will county home adviser of the Home Bureau, Mrs. Lucille Castle, to plan the county achievement days. The committee consists of Mrs. Ed Jones, of Wilmington, Miss Marguerite Offermann of Elwood, Mrs. Walter Hamilton of New Lenox, Mrs. Reece Birkett of Plainfield, and Mrs. Ivan Archibald of New Lenox.

St. Jude's Altar Society met Tuesday night in the church dining room for the May meeting. Mrs. Evelyn Arends and Mrs. Bea Tarrant were hostesses. The annual installation of officers took place at this meeting.

Raymond Cutler, small son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Cutler, underwent a minor operation in Silver Cross hospital last Friday morning.

Memorial Day services will be held at two o'clock in the school auditorium. Rev. Ralph L. Miller will give the address at the school. Father Reynolds will give benediction. As usual, the school children will march to the cemetery in the parade with flowers for the graves. William Martin Post VFW, accompanied by the Women's Auxiliary of Mokena, will also march in the parade here, as well as the New Lenox boy scouts. There will be a speaker at the cemetery to conclude the program.

Mr. and Mrs. Gaylord Mangun and son Wayne entertained at a birthday dinner Sunday at 6 o'clock honoring their sister-in-law, Mrs. Bruce Allen of Joliet. Dinner was served at six, at one long table covered with a lace cloth, and centered with a pretty bouquet of spring flowers, with white candelabra decorating either end of the table. A very pretty birthday cake also decorated the table. After dinner, card games were enjoyed, and many nice gifts were presented the honored guest. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Glen Allen of Chicago, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Mayer and Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Allen of Joliet, and the Gaylord Manguns.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Pelkey entertained at a graduation party Saturday night in their home honoring their granddaughter, Betty Lou Loucks, who graduated with the eighth grade class from the Green Garden school. Pinchle was in play at three tables, and prizes were awarded to Miss Norma Loucks, Mrs. Gertrude Loucks, and Mrs. Myrtle Pelkey, and to John Loucks, Edward Pelkey, and Jack Loucks. Refreshments were served after the games, at a large table centered with a very pretty bouquet of lilacs. Guests were Mr. and Mrs. William Rahm, Mr. and Mrs. John Loucks and children Betty Lou, Norma, and Jack of Frankfort, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Pelkey and children Billy and Jay of Forrest Park, Mr. and Mrs. Sherrill Rahm and children Karen and Billy, and Mr. and Mrs. Roy Minger and son Skippy, and Mr. and Mrs. Pelkey.

A meeting was held in the Episcopal church Tuesday evening when plans were made for the annual church carnival to be held June 26.

Touch Typewriting Can Be Self-Taught

Whether you plan to make office work your career, or hope to enter some other field eventually, you have to know typing to get a foothold.

Remember, an experienced eye can instantly detect the uneven touch of a hunt-and-peck typist, so better master the touch system without delay.

The Weekly Newspaper Service booklet teaches touch typing with charts, exercises and speed drills. Simple to learn. Send 25 cents (coin) for "Touch Typewriting Self-Taught" to Weekly Newspaper Service, 243 W. 17th St., New York 11, N. Y. Print name, address, booklet title and No. 13.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

Hard woods, and especially oak, are not good for framing jobs since they split easily and do not stay straight.

Never wring woolen blankets—in fact—never wring any woolens. Blankets are best hung on the line to drip.

Cause of paint cracking usually is that the top coat is harder than the undercoat. This often results when one paints over a surface that is not dry.

A little olive oil or glycerine poured on a soft cloth and rubbed on bathroom fixtures keeps them in excellent condition and makes them easier to polish.

A damp sponge rubbed lightly over upholstered furniture will remove surface dust, dog or cat hairs.

HOUSEHOLD SPECIALTY CO.
2763 No. 76th St. Milwaukee 13, Wis.

IT WAS Easter Sunday in New York. And the sun was shining. Laura Burton and Frank Harding had been to church and now they were part of the sleek crowd on Fifth avenue.

Laura held Frank's arm. To look at her you'd feel sure that she was happy. She was pretty and young and so well turned out. Successful young business girl, you'd probably have guessed. Or maybe even a young bride! And that, indeed, was the catch. Laura WAS a successful young business girl. But she wasn't a young bride! And yet right by her side was Frank Harding. And it was Frank with whom she was in love!

He could have been as far away as the North Pole, Laura felt. As far as matrimony, that is. He was nice to her. He took her to the theater, occasionally. He took her to the movies once in a while. He took her to dinner. But he was careful not to take Laura too often!

Laura had tried all of her tricks, long ago. And all of the tricks she'd read about. But none of them worked.

Well, he was here with her now. That was something.

It was fun, being here with Frank, being jostled by the well-dressed crowd. It was fun—but it wasn't enough. It would end too soon—and there'd be nothing else. Why Frank might not even telephone to her again for days and days! And there'd be just office routine. And a few dull dates that were only a little better than staying home. And actually staying home and pretending that reading the newest magazines and listening to the radio was enough. Funny, when Frank was with her, reading or listening to the radio was quite enough. If Frank were with her—but that was the whole trouble!

"I didn't have a chance to get you a flower," Frank said, as they strolled. "Let's get one, now."

They walked over to Madison avenue, found a flower shop and were going to turn in for a corsage, when—

"Look!" said Laura.

And there, in with the flowers, on a moss carpet, were a whole flock of very young, very yellow baby chicks.

"They're darling!" said Laura.

"Rather have one than a flower?"

"Of course I would!"

But baby chicks were so inexpensive that Laura had one and flowers, too.

They took the little chicken to Laura's immaculately modern apartment. It walked on the beige carpet and scratched a bit. And for no reason they named it "Nellie." They fed it some of the prepared food they'd bought. And decided that having a little chicken for a pet was great fun.

It was great fun! For Laura, anyhow. She put the chick in her snowy kitchenette before she went to the office in the morning—and left a note for Carrie, who came in, afterwards, to be careful of Nellie. At ten o'clock Frank telephoned her.

"How's Nellie?" he asked.

"She was fine, when I left this morning. When are you coming in to see her?"

"I thought tonight would be as good a time as any. No use letting her forget her foster father. What about a bit of dinner tonight. At Louise's, maybe?"

It was wonderful! Frank had never telephoned so soon after seeing her—had never made a date so promptly. Nellie? What of it. She'd be with him.

Frank got there at half past six. They spent nearly an hour sitting on the floor and playing with Nellie. They went to a movie after dinner

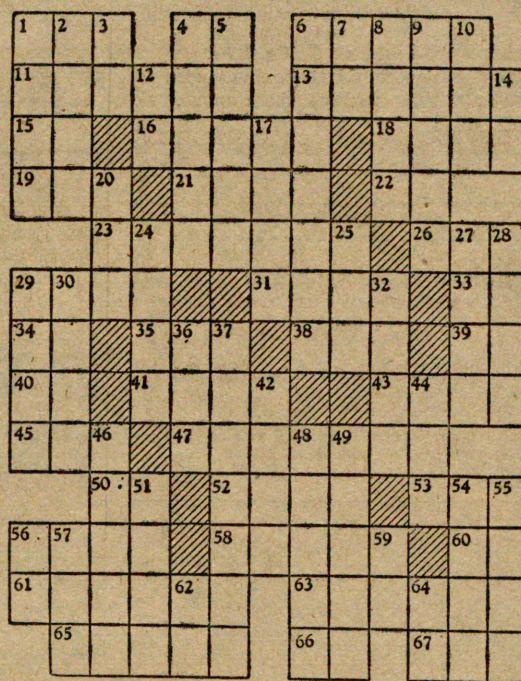

"They knelt on the floor playing with the little chicken. It was so cute and small and yellow!"

Answer to Puzzle Number 14

Series H-47

—and then Frank came in to see Nellie again!

She was a cute little chicken. No doubt of that. So small and yellow! And she gave gentle little "cheeps"—and even stopped those when you snuggled her in your hand.

And the next day Frank called again!

And then there were other dinners. A whole flock of them. And Laura was happier than she had ever been in her life! It couldn't be all Nellie's attraction!

Nellie grew tall. She lost her baby prettiness, and her legs grew long and tiny feathers replaced her soft yellow fuzz. And as she grew taller she grew more friendly. Neither Laura nor Frank would have believed it possible. Nellie followed them the way a puppy might do.

It was grand having Nellie as a pet and Frank coming in so frequently.

AND then Nellie became ill! Not very ill, of course—but she seemed to mope and her eyelids drooped.

Laura and Frank took Nellie in a taxicab to a veterinarian. The vet didn't know too much about chickens. But he prescribed a change of food. "That chicken has got to have sunshine," he said. "Sunshine—and a place to scratch in the earth."

And Laura lived in a small apartment. And Frank in an apartment hotel!

There had to be a home for Nellie! That was certain.

Without realizing that they might be open to ridicule, they began hunting for a house in the country. Luckily Laura's lease was up on the first of the month.

They finally found just the house they were looking for. White, with green shutters. And a beautiful garden—it needed fixing, of course, but Laura liked to work in a garden.

"I'm great in a garden," said Frank, unexpectedly. "I used to work in our garden at home. Things always grew for me."

Laura hadn't known that Frank had ever been in a garden! Laura signed the lease for the house. In a way she felt that she was burning an awful lot of bridges. All of her friends lived in town.

Laura and Frank went out to the new house every minute they had to spare. Frank painted. He made book shelves. He repaired the flagstone walk. He was wonderful!

The movers were ordered. On Saturday Frank came by to take Laura to a party. Then they were going to have a last dinner in Laura's apartment.

The party was fun. But Laura was a little sad. There still could be parties, even if she lived in the country but, somehow, she'd be so far away from everyone. As long as she saw Frank, that didn't matter—but if something should happen—if Frank didn't come to see her—

Frank opened the apartment house door with Laura's key, which she handed to him. Carrie had been listening for them, evidently, for she was at the door the minute it opened.

"My goodness!" she said, "I don't know how to tell you! But—but you got to know it. Nellie is dead! Yes'm, she just fell over!"

Nellie was dead! And, suddenly, Laura realized what it meant to her. She'd miss the little chicken, of course. But now she'd be all alone! And not even in town!

She started to cry. Frank put his arms around her. "Don't cry!" he said. "We can get other chickens."

"But—but—" she said, and couldn't go on. She didn't know how to say it. She wanted to ask: "Will you come, if there are other chickens? Was it Nellie you came to see?" She didn't say anything at all.

"After all, Nellie was only a chicken," he said.

"But I was going to move to the country—to make a home for—for Nellie," she sobbed.

"The country's fine," said Frank. "I can hardly wait to get there myself. I say, you know, I've been thinking about it, and I—well, what do you say if we, well, get married and you make a home for me. That would suit me all right. How would it suit you?"

Laura wiped her eyes. And decided it would suit her just fine.

Butter-Making

Points to be observed in good butter-making include use of only good, clean, rich milk from properly fed and cared for cows. Cleanliness of the cow and the milker is essential. Correct temperature for ripening the milk and for churning is necessary. Cream should be ripened at 65 to 70 degrees F. The churning temperature should be about 60 to 68 degrees so that butter will form in granules about the size of wheat grains in 20 to 25 minutes. When that stage is reached, stop churning, wash the butter with water of the same temperature, in two or three waters, until all milk is removed. Add about a tablespoonful of salt to each pound of butter and work enough to distribute the salt. Mold and wrap in parchment paper.

Sealing Leaks in Dam

Several leaks that developed in the cofferdam of the Grand Coulee dam in 1937 were sealed with bentonite, a soft porous volcanic ash that, when moistened, rapidly swells into hard compact clay 15 times its original mass.

WEED-NO-MORE

The Original Butyl Ester of 2,4-D
The Farm-tested Weed Killer

Weed-No-More controls mustards, sunflower, cocklebur, bindweed, Canada thistle, hoary cress, buckbrush, and other weeds. Weed-No-More increases your yield, and helps improve quality. Weed-No-More, by killing and controlling weeds, reduces loss of soil moisture and fertility.

This new farm weapon makes weed control easier, cheaper, and more effective than has heretofore been possible in growing grain crops and in many other farm areas where broad-leaf weeds are a problem.

Now! Concentrated Low-Gallonage Spraying

New spraying method developed by Sherwin-Williams Research uses little as 5 gallons of water per acre! See your dealer for complete information.
